UG Healthcare expands its product portfolio with a new range of reusable gloves under the proprietary 'Unigloves' brand

- The new range of reusable industrial gloves ensure comprehensive hand protection against all major workplace hand hazards including chemical, cuts, impact, thermal and electrical hazards

Singapore, 21 October 2021 – UG Healthcare Corporation Limited 优格医疗集团 ("UG Healthcare" and together with its subsidiaries, the "Group"), a disposable gloves manufacturer with its own established global downstream distribution business that markets and sells disposable glove products under its proprietary "Unigloves" brand, wishes to update shareholders and potential investors on the launch of its new range of reusable gloves – Nitrex and Sibille Safe, for industrial applications.

The Nitrex range provides a combination of physical protection from cuts, puncture and abrasion resistance, better grip for dry, wet or oil, chemical resistance and thermal protection. For users having to wear their gloves for an extended period of time or in warmer environments, a hygiene and odour control function, Sanitized® Actifresh, is integrated within selected gloves, neutralising odours and reducing microbial growth. The Sibille Safe range, on the other hand, provides dielectric and arc flash protection from 500 Volts to 36,000 Volts.

The Group first launched its new range of reusable gloves in the United Kingdom (https://info.unigloves.co.uk/blog/new-industrial-range) to offer hand protection solutions to its customers and users across various industry sectors in Europe. These sectors include automotive, construction, electronics, engineering, food and beverage, glass, janitorial, oil and chemical processing, railway, transport and logistics, timber, utilities, warehousing and waste management.

Mr Lee Jun Yih, Executive Director and Finance Director of UG Healthcare said, "We are delighted to achieve a new milestone for the Group with the launch of the new range of reusable gloves for industrial applications. Our integrated own-brand manufacturing business model enables us to collaborate with chosen reusable gloves manufacturers to produce innovative reusable gloves for industrial applications under our proprietary brand, which are marketed and sold through our entrenched downstream distribution network. This strategy not only allows us to expand our product portfolio but also to develop our downstream distribution capabilities to their full potential."

This new range of reusable glove products will subsequently be rolled out to other key markets through the Group's downstream distribution global network.
